

Can 2018 be our best year EVER?

The headline above poses a simple question which leads to a simple answer: YES. It’s true. The year 2018 could be our best as a ministry. The absolute, unequivocal, best.

There is no guarantee, of course. But 2018 could be the year we reach more who need us than ever before. This could be the year more moms and dads choose life for their babies than we’ve ever seen before. This could be the year when more solid families are created as a result of time spent within our doors.

In short, 2018 could be a year we look back on and say, “The culture in our community clearly shifted this year.”

So I ask, “What would happen if every single one of us offered to take our commitment to this work one step forward in 2018?” This could strengthen our outreach, build our effectiveness with those we see and yes, create a true cultural shift in our community.

What does one step forward look like for you? If you’ve never made a financial gift to us, a monthly gift of $10 or $25 would have a tremendous impact, especially if hundreds of us made that decision.

If you are already supporting us financially, could each of us take one step up in our giving with an extra few dollars here or there? Imagine what would happen if every financial partner decided, “Hey, I can give this much more, every month.”

One step forward. That’s all it takes. And if hundreds decide to take that one step, it would be fascinating to see what God’s hand can do when so many say “Yes” to his call.

Sincerely,

Vincent A. Pacelli
